

How Do I Use the Chat Feature?

Here's everything you need to know:

The Chat feature on Currently lets you move from public vibes to private conversations — instantly.

Whether you've just discovered someone interesting, want to follow up on a moment, or reconnect with a friend, Chat is your space for real-time, one-on-one connection.

Where to Find the Chat Feature

- Tap the Chat icon in the bottom navigation bar
This opens your Inbox, where all your current and past conversations live.

How to Start a New Chat

You can start a conversation with:

- Anyone you follow
- Anyone who follows you
- Anyone whose moment you've interacted with
(if their privacy settings allow it)

To start a chat:

1. Go to the user's profile or tap their name on a moment.
2. Tap the Message button .
3. Type your message and hit Send .

That's it — your private chat is now active!

What You Can Do in Chat

Once inside a chat, you can:

- Send text messages
- React to messages with emojis

- ❑ View a person’s current or recent moments directly from the chat
- ❑ See if they’re active now (if status is enabled)

Voice notes, media sharing, and group chats are coming soon!

Notifications

When you receive a new message:

- ❑ You’ll get a push notification (if enabled)
- ❑ A red dot appears on the Chat icon
- ❑ Inside your inbox, the conversation appears at the top

Privacy & Control

- ❑ You can block or report any user from within the chat if needed
- ❑ If someone sends unwanted messages, just tap ‘:’ > Block or Report
- ❑ You can also delete a chat thread from your inbox — but it only removes it for you

Currently respects your boundaries. You always control who can message you.
