

Can I See Check-In History? Here's a clear and helpful Help Center article for "Can I see check-in history?" Yes! On Currently, you can view your own check-in history — as well as explore check-ins from other users — to keep track of places you've been and discover where others are going in real-time.

1. How to View Your Own Check-In History

Every time you post a moment with a place check-in, it gets saved to your profile.

To view your check-in history:

1. Open the Currently app
2. Go to your Profile
3. Scroll through your moments — each check-in is displayed with a location tag
4. Tap on any moment to see the place, time, and what you posted

Currently does not currently have a "Check-Ins Only" filter, but you can manually view each tagged location within your moments.

2. How to Explore Others' Check-Ins

You can also view check-ins from friends, creators, or popular places:

- Go to the Map or Discover Feed
- Tap on a moment → See the location tag
- Tap the place name to open its Place Profile
- View all moments tagged there (including who was there and when)

Check-ins are shown only if the moment is public or you follow the user (if set to Followers Only).

3. View a Place's Full Check-In History

Want to revisit a specific café, gym, or hangout spot?

Tap a place tag from any moment

This opens the Place Profile

Browse all user-generated moments at that location — forever saved as footfalls

4. Privacy & Control

- Only moments you choose to tag will appear in your check-in history
- You can always delete a moment to remove it from your history and from the place's profile
- Your exact GPS location is never shared — only the tagged place

Summary

Want to...	Here's How
View your own check-ins	Go to Profile → Browse moments with place tags
See someone else's check-in	Tap their moment → Tap the place → See full Place Profile
Explore a place's check-in log	Search or tap place name → View all tagged moments
Remove a check-in	Delete the moment or remove the place tag

Your check-in history is like a social diary of where you've been — a timeline of real places, real moments, and real memories.