How Do I React or Comment on Moments?

Whether you're loving a vibe, resonating with an activity, or just want to say "nice!" your interaction helps social energy on the platform.

Moments on Currently are all about real-time connection, and reacting or commenting is the perfect way to show support, express emotion, or start a conversation with someone right now.

How to React to a Moment

Reactions are a quick and easy way to respond without typing a word.

To react:

1. Tap on any moment in your feed, Discover, Map, or profile.

2. You'll see a smiley icon or reaction bar below the moment.

3. Tap a reaction emoji that best fits how you feel.

You can only react once per moment, but you can change your reaction anytime.

Reactions are public, and the person who posted the moment can see:

 Who reacted

 Which emoji was used

How to Comment on a Moment

Comments let you go beyond emojis and say something real — whether it's a compliment, question, or inside joke.

To comment:

1. Tap on any moment to view it in full.

2. Below the moment, tap the Comment icon .

3. Type your message and hit Send .

Comments are public, and anyone viewing the moment can see them.

Who Gets Notified?

- The creator of the moment gets a notification when someone reacts or comments.
- This makes interactions more timely, meaningful, and personal.

Can I Delete or Edit Comments?

- You can delete your own comment by tapping and holding on it → then selecting Delete.
- Editing comments isn't currently supported — just delete and retype if needed.

Summary

Feature	What You Can Do
React	Tap an emoji to express how you feel
Comment	Leave a message or reply publicly
Notifications	Moment creators are notified of all activity
Control	You can delete your own comments anytime

Why It Matters

Reactions and comments are how real people connect over real moments.

So whether it's just a for someone working out or a "Where is this place?" under a food moment —
Every interaction adds value to the moment.